Function composition applies one function to another.

Inverse functions undo the original function.